Welcome to Durham Region!

This guide was created by the Durham Local Immigration Partnership (DLIP) for newcomers looking to find rental housing in Durham Region, Ontario, Canada, with limited financial resources. The journey to finding housing can be long and challenging due to the current housing shortage. We want to support you through this process and have put together a list of resources that you will need to find housing, including assistance that you may be eligible to receive and supports available to guide you through each step of the process.

About the Durham Local Immigration Partnership

The Durham Local Immigration Partnership (DLIP) is a multi-sectoral partnership that works to improve the capacity of local settlement and non-settlement partners to serve newcomers in Durham Region. Today, it boasts a membership of more than 100 partners representing all levels of government, settlement and non-settlement service providers. Situated within the Region's Diversity, Equity and Inclusion (DEI) Division, the DLIP has deepened conversations around the regional and municipal role in humanitarian settlement responses, immigration, equity, anti-racism and inclusion in Durham.

Housing

Housing Assistance

There are a variety of spaces that can be rented. Supports are available to help you navigate how to secure a rental unit such as an apartment, room, house or basement. The process can look different for each space. It can be complicated and overwhelming to find a place to rent but, there are supports that can help you navigate your search such as outreach workers (more information is listed below).

If you prefer to look on your own, review the, "Where to find online apartment listings" document (durham.ca/en/living-here/resources/Documents/Housing-Shelters-and-Homelessness/Renters-Toolkit/Where-to-Find-Online-Apartment-Listings.pdf). However, Outreach workers understand the process and can help you look for a place to rent. They have relationships with landlords that will be respectful of your rights, as well as how to navigate requirements that many landlords ask for that newcomers may not have yet, such as a credit score. Real estate agents are also available to help, at a free cost.

Social Housing

Durham Region has social housing, which is housing that is subsidized for individuals and families that are low income. If you are a citizen, permanent resident, refugee or refugee claimant, you can apply to be added to the Region's wait-list through the Durham Access to Social Housing \(DASH\) (durham.ca/en/living-here/durham-access-to-social-housing-dash.aspx). Wait-list times can vary, but it is usually long depending on location and bedroom size.

*Individuals with a student work visa or work permit are not eligible for this program.

Housing Search

Tenant Rights

As a tenant you have rights such as:

- The right to live in a property that's safe and in a good state of repair.
- The right to have your deposit returned at the end of the tenancy (provided that you meet the terms of your tenancy agreement).
- Protection against housing discrimination and rent gouging.
- Legal recourse if the landlord lets the property become uninhabitable, and more.

The Landlord Tribunal Board provides information about its practices and procedures and the rights and responsibilities of landlords and tenants under the Residential Tenancies Act. For more information on your rights, visit the Landlord and Tenant Board (TribunalOntario.ca/lrb/)

Outreach workers can also inform you of your rights as a tenant, which is very important before you sign a lease. CDCD and Durham Region's outreach team offer Rent Smart Workshops to provide important information on how to protect yourself while you are a tenant.

The organisations listed below have outreach workers that can help you complete rental applications and housing stability fund forms. They can also provide support with eviction prevention and mediation with landlords.

Know Your Rights!

Not every landlord will give you the correct information. They may also add clauses to your lease that are not legal. Examples of clauses that are not enforceable include no pets, no smokers, several months of rent in advance and more. It is also important that the unit that you are considering to rent is up to code. For instance, a basement with a bedroom should have a window to be a legal unit. Learn more about your rights by reviewing Renting in Ontario: Your Rights (ontario.ca/page/renting-ontario-your-rights).

Financial Assistance

To secure housing you will need your last month's rent. There are services that can help with funds for your last month's rent. You will likely need to show that a lease is in place.

Social assistance programs (such as Ontario Works) offer money to eligible individuals for living expenses including rent, medication, food and more. If you are already on Ontario Works, you have access to financial assistance for last month's rent and moving costs. You can contact CDCD to arrange it. If you don't have Ontario Works, CDCD can still provide support.

Note: If you have arrived to Canada and don't need any financial assistance you can use the Renter's Toolkit (durham.ca/en/living-here/renter-s-toolkit.aspx#Living-with-Roommates)
